Onset and Rhyme -ack, -ock, -ick and -uck

The –ck ending is so tricky for kids. I've found that breaking it down into the various vowel endings, so that you have lots of different rhyming words, has been useful in helping children to remember to add the –ck ending.

We do also talk about when we add –ck: if you have a vowel that makes its short sound AND only one consonant, you add the –ck.

If you have 2 vowels (look) – only the k.
If you have a vowel and 2 consonants (trunk) – only the k.
If you have a vowel and a Magic E – only the k (and it has to be 'k' rather than 'c' if you have a magic e, as the 'e' will make a 'c' say 's' rather than the c/k sound).

These rules need to be repeated (both by you and by the children!) many times for them to stick!

I have not created a '-uck' label for what I imagine is an obvious reason. ☺

I hope these save you some time, help you differentiate, and you find them useful and colourful! I'd love to hear how you use them in your own classroom. ☺
